SAYS PEARY AND COOK BOTH REACHED POLE

Harry Whitney Sees No More Reason for Doubting Cook's Achievements Than Peary's.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Sept. 29.—Harry Whitney of New Haven believes that Dr. Frederick A. Cook found the pole and that Commander Peary did the same. In expressing this belief yesterday, Mr. Whitney said that he knows no reason of doubting Cook more than Peary.

"Dr. Cook's story," he added, "seems to me truthful and probable. Nothing else would explain his twelve months' absence."

The schooner "Jeanie" arrived here yesterday with Mr. Whitney aboard, coming from the Greenland coast by way of Indian Harbor, Labrador. Mr. Whitney feels keenly the position in which he is placed. He went North, he said, merely on a hunting trip, and now finds himself in the storm center of a Polar controversy. Dr. Cook left with him at Annatok several cases containing instruments, and some other belongings, but so far as Mr. Whitney knew, no written records. There may have been records, however, packed with Dr. Cook's personal effects, but the explorer did not tell him especially that he was leaving written records in his possession.

Speaking of Dr. Cook's detailed account of his trip to the pole, Mr. Whitney said that the explorer showed him how the western drift of the ice had landed him in a region far remote from where he expected to go, and he was unable to get back.

He could not speak with authority as to whether Dr. Cook and his two Eskimos could carry on their three sledges enough food for their journey to the pole, as he himself is a novice in Arctic traveling. He declared he knew nothing of the controversy beyond the vaguest details. The first he learned of it was at Indian Harbor when he received messages from several American papers asking for a statement.

Mr. Whitney denied that Commander Peary had removed Dr. Cook's stores from Annatok to Etah. What Peary really did was to transfer a few things and rebuild the house at Annatok. Boatswain Murphy's only reason for refusing to help Capt. Bernier's Canadian expedition to get dogs and sledges at Etah was that they were short of dogs themselves. Mr. Whitney had trouble in getting enough dogs for his own teams all through the winter and Murphy was looking out for Peary, so that he would have sufficient dogs for the commander's exploring trips around the country when he returned from the north.

Peary's Churlish Conduct.

The day the "Roosevelt" was leaving Etah for home Whitney informed Peary that Cook had entrusted to him certain belongings to bring home on the vessel that was coming up for Whitney, but as this ship had not arrived, Whitney was at a loss what to do with this property.

Peary declined to permit Dr. Cook's belongings to be brought aboard the "Roosevelt" and he put Whitney on his honor not to include anything belonging to Dr. Cook in his own luggage. Whitney thereupon went ashore from the "Roosevelt," separated Dr. Cook's property from his own baggage, and with the aid of

VERNER IS HELD FOR KILLING OF WYNNE

DEED WAS COMMITTED IN JUNE NEAR MICANOPY.

Wife of Defendant Still Holds to Her Original Statement Made at the Time.

The preliminary hearing of J. M. Verner, charged with the murder of Tom Wynne at Micanopy during last June, was held in the city before County Judge Mason yesterday, a large number having been summoned to testify in the case.

Since the publication of the killing, which was to the effect that Verner was crazy, owing to too much sickness, and committed the deed while he was probably demented, a different view has been brought out, and it now seems as if he was driven to the deed by the man interfering with his domestic affairs.

So strong has become the sentiment in Micanopy among a number of citizens that they raised a fund and succeeded in securing the services of an attorney to represent Verner at the hearing, and it will probably be a hard-fought case at the next session of circuit court in this city.

At the hearing yesterday the woman, Mrs. Verner, swore to her original story, which was published in these columns at the time of the tragedy, while, on the other hand, some of the evidence in behalf of Verner was introduced which showed that the man was aggravated, and that he was probably caused to commit the act by the actions of Wynne, who had repeatedly visited his home against his instructions to stay away.

Judge Mason held the defendant to the next term of court without bail, and a long and lengthy trial will probably result, since the action of some of the citizens coming to the relief of the unfortunate man.

Capt. Robert Bartlett, commander of the "Roosevelt," whom he had asked to help him, repacked Cook's property in boxes. After this had been done Whitney and Bartlett cached all Cook's property in a cave in the rocks. They built up the cave securely with stones and turf and left it, and the property in charge of one of Dr. Cook's Eskimos.

It may be remarked in passing, Mr. Whitney went on, that ten years ago, Peary did with the Explorer Sverdrup, who was cruising in Smith's sound, what he has done with Cook; he refused to bring back any of Sverdrup's letters or records.

In conclusion, Mr. Whitney declared he regretted being dragged into this controversy. He said he had found both Dr. Cook and Commander Peary courteous and considerate and that he had never met men whose conduct generally was more commendable or whose dealing with him had been more fair.

DR. COOK TALKS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Dr. Cook, when shown Mr. Whitney's statement, said last night that he approved of all that Mr. Whitney had said.

"Everything in the interview is substantially correct," said Dr. Cook. "It confirms all my declarations."

"Mr. Whitney was in all probability unaware of the written records being left with him. They are not of much consequence, I have duplicates."

"The bulwarks of the Government are the men you elect to Congress," says President Taft. Really, some of them might be classed as bearwarks, however.

MILLIONS OF PEOPLE SAW THE BIG PARADE

New York's Mayor Headed Line on Foot, Which Was Three Hours in Passing.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Through streets ablaze with bunting and lined with the greatest crowd ever gathered in New York thoroughfares, a parade of 20,000 men and fifty-four floats passed yesterday before the envoys of twenty-one nations participating in the Hudson-Fulton celebration. And in its passing, which occupied two hours' time, the epoch-making scenes of three centuries, represented in gigantic figures of wood, plaster, paint and tinsel, were reviewed.

The day was bright, and the celebration was held without an untoward incident. Along the route of the parade, a distance of over five miles, it is estimated that more than two million people gathered.

As a parade, it was as democratic as it was historical; as cosmopolitan as it was democratic. Mayor George B. McClellan and Herman Ridder, vice-president of the Hudson-Fulton celebration commission, headed the line and covered the entire distance afoot. There was no military show, no distinguished personages in vehicles; all, with the exception of the platoon of police mounted on their shiny-coated bay horses, were afoot.

A number of patriotic scenes were wildly cheered. Among them were "pulling down the statue of George III;" "publishing the constitution;" "storming of Stony Point;" "capture of Andre;" and "Washington taking oath of office."

It was before a distinguished gathering that the paraders passed. Vice-President James S. Sherman was flanked on either side by Admirals Le Ford and Seymour, of the French and English squadrons, respectively.

Governor Hughes, Seth Low, Prince Kuni of Japan, and the German grand admiral, Von Koester, were seated nearby. Others in the official reviewing stand were Rear Admiral Schroeder, of the Atlantic fleet, and his staff; Major-General O. O. Howard and Supreme Court Justice Brewer.

Tammany in Parade.

Tammany, with a thousand stalwart members in "Prince Alberts" and high hats, made a picturesque showing. Squads of school children, New York University, Columbia City College and Rutgers College students; members of Irish, Italian, French, Scotch, Swedish and other cosmopolitan societies followed, and behind them came others and others, seemingly without end.

With the end of the parade at Washington Square, the crowds broke out of bounds and swarmed back and forth across the square, literally storming the floats to get souvenirs. It necessitated military severity on the part of the police to save the creations from being torn to pieces. The line of march was kept well cleared, and in the crushes there were only minor accidents, the victims of which generally were nervous women.

More than 6,000 sailors from all the ships now assembled in the New York harbor, attended the performance at the Hippodrome last night as the guests of the Hudson-Fulton commission. No attempt was made to seat the sailors by countries, and as a result the light blue of the French uniform, the white tassel of the German jackie and the distinguishing uniform of warrant officers of the various for-

John W. Gates Says Money Is Easy in West

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—"The Western people and the Western banker," declares John W. Gates on his return from an extended trip through the great wheat and corn region, "have more money than ever before in their history, and there will be no extraordinary withdrawals of funds from the East for crop-moving purposes. International monetary conditions are such that if money rates are advanced materially on this side, millions of dollars in gold will be exported from Europe." The fact of the West's complete financial independence—or practically that—is one of the most impressive and significant in our recent business history. It was only 13 years or so ago that cash was the scarcest of all commodities in the agricultural States of the West, when the interest payments on farm mortgages held in the East were a drain on the Westerners' resources amounting to many millions of dollars yearly, when corn was being burned for fuel, when the popular cry out there was for "free silver" and the extermination of the "plutocrats," when pessimism was on every tongue and breathed from every line of newspaper type, and when William Allen White was one day moved to tell an interested world just what was "the matter with Kansas." Now all that has changed. The "wave of prosperity" following the Spanish American war struck the West promptly and struck it hard—and the West wouldn't let it recede.

University of Wisconsin Establishes New Bureau

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 29.—The latest illustration of the nearness of the University of Wisconsin to the actual life of the State and of its intention to serve the age is its establishment of a municipal reference bureau, which will carry on three regular courses by correspondence in municipal government and administration and a series of popular lectures on civic subjects. Co-operating with the political science department of the university and with the highly developed pioneer legislative reference department of the State Library, the University intends to aid citizens of towns and cities to bring about a higher grade of administration. Already lecturers stand ready to respond to invitations on "City Government by Commission," "The City Beautiful," "Municipal Functions" and "What's the Matter With Our Cities."

Unusual Death Rate Among Governors The Past Year

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 29.—The recent mortality of Governors of States has been striking. Within a year Governors John A. Johnson of Minnesota, George L. Lilley of Connecticut, Samuel G. Cosgrove of Washington and John Sparks of Nevada have passed away. This is certainly an extraordinary number of gubernatorial deaths.

Governors Cosgrove and Lilley had been in office only a short time when the summons that no man may ignore or evade came to them. Both were inaugurated in January, and Governor Cosgrove died in March and Governor Lilley in April.

Of the chief magistrates who have died within a year Governors Johnson and Lilley had national reputations. Governor Johnson's prominence as a national figure was mainly attained during his service in the executive chair, while Governor Lilley's was achieved while he was in Congress and battling with the submarine forces. Governor Sparks occupied the federal limelight for a short time last year as the result of some breezy correspondence with President Roosevelt with reference to the miners' strike at Goldfield.

Philadelphia Politics Verging on Fever Heat

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—The municipal campaign is warming up. On two registration days, eleven thousand more voters have qualified than on the corresponding days a year ago, when a President was to be elected. This promises well for the independents, although the Republican machine may be counted upon to make an heroic effort to register its full vote—and something over—on the final registration day,

October 2. The familiar methods of fraudulent registration continue to enliven the City of Brotherly Love and Crooked Politics. One of the registrars in Boss McNichol's ball-wick has been convicted of placing the names of dead men and famous characters of fiction upon the voting list. It cannot be supposed that this particular registrar was alone guilty; the padded vote of the Tenth Ward and other "gang" centers has long been public scandal.

THE BEST OPENING UNIVERSITY EVER HAD

NUMBER OF STUDENTS EXCEEDS ANY PREVIOUS YEAR.

Short and Appropriate Addresses
Were Made by President Murphree and Congressman Clark.

The opening of the University of Florida for the fall term of 1909-10 was one of the most successful ever held in this city, and one that will long be remembered by the citizens who attended.

The large chapel was filled to overflowing with visitors from the city, while quite a few of the strangers who had accompanied their sons here remained over for this event.

Dr. Murphree, the newly elected president who has done so much for the advancement of the school during his short connection, made a few appropriate and well-chosen remarks concerning the school, its work, aim and what it would be to the city if properly encouraged. He was followed by Rev. Mr. Cloar, the new Baptist minister, who assured the student body that he was with them in their athletic sports, and if necessary was there when it comes to football, but he could always be counted upon to render them any assistance in his power. His remarks were followed by cheerful words from Revs. Hays and Bridges.

One of the most pleasing addresses, which was impromptu, was that of Congressman Frank Clark, who responded, after having been called upon, in his usual clever manner. His tribute to the school, to Gainesville, and the entire State was well worthy of mention. He laid great stress on the ability of the Florida youth, and said that with the proper co-operation of the citizens of Gainesville the University could and would become one of the greatest schools of the South, for it had, besides the good town and good people, the finest of all climates in which to attract the Northern student here during the winter months.

The dormitory and cottages have all been filled, and the registration showed up at noon as follows: For the University department 104, law department 25, a total of 129, with many more yet to register and be assigned to their classes.

ORANGE HEIGHTS.

ORANGE HEIGHTS, Sept. 29.—Mrs. Hicks, Waldo Hicks and wife, and Mr. Tillis of Waldo attended services here Sunday afternoon and night, returning home by moonlight, taking Miss Daisy Hicks with them; but Grandma Boring remained with us until the close of the meeting.

Kale Yearwood of Melrose passed through here on Tuesday of this week on his way to Tampa, where he was united in marriage to Miss Sadie Mullin on Wednesday evening. Returning to Orange Heights Thursday morning they will have breakfast with Mrs. Hall, returning to Melrose for dinner.

Dr. and Mrs. Curtis returned home from their summer vacation Wednesday of this week.

The religious meetings closed on Wednesday of this week, and Rev. T. L. Z. Barr left early Wednesday morning for Williston, where he will attend the district conference. No delegate attended from here, but a written report was sent.

IMPROVEMENTS ARE NEEDED BY SCHOOL

CROWDS AT THE HIGH SCHOOL
OVERTAX SOME ROOMS.

Enrollment of the Second Week Is Now Nearing the Five-Hundred Mark.

The second week of the Gainesville Graded and High School is showing an increased attendance and the enrollment is now nearing the five-hundred mark.

Since the first week there have been a number of additions, while, as is the usual case, some of the registrations for the first day have not returned, but the new additions more than make up this loss.

Prof. Cassels and his large corps of efficient teachers have all settled down to hard work for the interests of the pupils and the school work and exercises are now most thorough.

More room will have to be made for a number of the grades, for the rooms are now overflowing, and it is impossible to seat all the pupils in the allotted space, which makes it rather disagreeable as well as uncomfortable for the teacher and pupils alike. It is hoped that this matter will be looked after by the trustees at an early date.

A number of little things are needed to make the place and building more attractive, and the teachers and pupils have started the plan by asking parents to contribute a small amount which will be sufficient to defray expenses, make the desired improvements, and at the same time not inconvenience anyone.

By the above method they hope to have the building, and especially the rooms devoted to each grade, improved within the next few days and make the place all the more comfortable and cozy. Only certain things are provided by the board, and all of these small expenses will have to be borne by the children.

"For a long time my hair had been falling out and my scalp gave forth great quantities of dandruff. I used several so-called hair tonics but never received any benefit until I used Parisian Sage. This wonderful tonic cleansed the scalp and hair, removed the dandruff and stopped my hair falling out. There is nothing too good for me to say for Parisian Sage and I strongly endorse its use."—Mrs. Jessie Sweet, Lowell, Mich., June 28, 1909.

S.S.S. REMOVES BLOOD HUMORS

Every pore and gland of the skin is employed in the necessary work of preserving its smooth, even texture, softening and cleansing it, and regulating the temperature of our bodies. This is done by an evaporation through each tiny outlet, which goes on continually day and night. When the blood becomes infected with humors and acids a certain percentage of these impurities also pass off with the natural evaporation, and their sour, fiery nature irritates and inflames the skin, and dries up its natural oils, causing pimples, boils, pustules or some itching rash, or hard, scaly skin affection. S.S.S. cures skin troubles of every kind by neutralizing the acids and removing the humors from the blood. S.S.S. cools the acid-heated circulation, builds it up to its normal strength and thickness, multiplies its nutritious, red corpuscles, and enriches it in every way. Then the skin, instead of being irritated and diseased by the exuding acrid matter, is nourished, soothed and softened by this cooling, healthy stream of blood. S.S.S., the greatest of blood purifiers, expels all foreign matter and surely cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum and all other diseases and affections of the skin. It removes pimples, blackheads, and other unsightly blemishes from the skin and assists in restoring a good complexion. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice desired free to all who write.

CITY FOOTBALL BOYS ARE HARD AT WORK

HOLDING REGULAR PRACTICE TO TRIM UNIVERSITY SQUAD.

Eleven Was Organized Principally to Keep the University Boys in Training During Season.

The city football eleven are now organized and hard at work for the purpose of making good and "coming clean" with the University eleven the coming season on the gridiron.

Jimmie Shands has charge of the eleven from the city, and his excellent management during the past season with the University squad shows how well he has been trained for the position. Besides being a thorough football man himself, he has succeeded in getting together one of the best teams ever organized in Gainesville.

The men who make up the city eleven are mostly large, heavyset, such as Hugh Morrow, while of course a few small ones are in the crowd.

Owing to the extra large attendance at the University this season they will have a good team, for there are a number to pick from.

The coach of the University eleven has arrived and brought with him some of the material that has been associated with them for a number of seasons.

It is not known at this time just when they will get games outside of the State, but it will be their endeavor to have Tech and other school teams here, as the games will really be interesting and exciting.

The team from the city claims they will make good, but it is organized more to give the University boys the proper practice, and at the same time let them know that they will have to work to win the honors on the gridiron the coming season. They are now practicing regularly each week and have been showing up well.

COE—McCLELLAN.

One of the Most Beautiful Home Weddings Ever Seen in Gainesville.

(By Mrs. S. B. Rogers.)

Quite the most beautiful home wedding witnessed in Gainesville for some time was that of Miss Sarah Elizabeth McClellan to Mr. Harry Burton Coe, which took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. McClellan.

The entire lower floor of the home was beautifully decorated with evergreens and goldenrod. It was a veritable "Goldenrod Wedding," our beautiful and much-loved national flower being used in great profusion throughout the entire house.

An aisle was formed of magnificent ferns, and garlands of white ribbons, from the arched doorway of the dining-room through the back hall to an arch made of goldenrod and evergreens in the center of the reception hall. From the top of this arch swung a beautiful golden marriage bell, under which Miss McClellan and Mr. Coe stood during the ceremony.

Just as the chimes of the clock were striking the hour of two-thirty, Mrs. J. A. Forsythe of Brevard, N. C., began playing the sweetest of all marches—Mendelssohn's Wedding March—to the beautiful strains of which the bridal party entered from the arched doorway of the dining-room, up the aisle of ferns and white ribbons, to the center of the reception hall, stopping under the beautiful wedding arch.

First came the maid of honor, Miss Lucretia Cromley of Philadelphia, Pa., a cousin of the bride, clad in a very elegant dress of yellow satin messaline, trimmed with beautiful hand-made lace, and a hat to match, carrying a lovely bouquet of bridesmaid roses. She marched to her place at the left of the arch. Then came a sweet vision of loveliness, little Miss Virginia Dale, the ring bearer, also a cousin of the bride. She was very sweetly dressed in white batiste, trimmed with val lace, and carried on her left arm a magnificent bouquet of large American Beauty roses. In her right hand she carried a silver basket in which was the handsome wedding ring. She made quite a lovely picture as she took her place at the right of the arch. Immediately afterward the bride entered, leaning upon the arm of her father. Words fail me to describe this sweet vision of girlish loveliness as she came up the aisle, gowned in an exquisite costume of pure white duchess satin, princess style, with a long graceful train. Down the front was a tucked panel, almost covered with dainty silver passementerie, and edged with handsome white silk fringe. She wore a large picture hat of white velvet, almost covered with handsome white ostrich plumes, with just a few touches of silver. Her bouquet was of lovely bride's roses, showered with lilies of the valley and tied with white chiffon.

Mr. Coe entered from a door just to the left of the reception hall, accompanied by his best man, Mr. Daniel F. Carlton of Tampa, Fla., and met the bride just under the wedding bell. Facing the large crowd of relatives and friends assembled to witness the ceremony, they were joined in the sacred bonds of matrimony by Rev. S. B. Rogers, president of the Baptist State Convention of Florida, using the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony.

During the ceremony Mrs. Forsythe played in sweet, low tones, "Angel Ceremony." After a beautiful prayer by Rev. Rogers the bridal party marched out of the right entrance to the hall, the same wedding march being repeated. They soon returned to the parlor, the bride attired in a very handsome going-away gown of blue silk, with hat to match, and received hearty good wishes and congratulations from all.

Then came what, to the young folks, was the most exciting event of the afternoon—the cutting of the bride's cake, the bride presenting each guest with a portion. This cake was a delicious creation of the celebrated caterer, L. M. Theobald, of Philadelphia, Pa. It was beautifully iced in a dainty pattern of lilies of the valley, and in the center was a small bouquet of the real flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Coe left at three-thirty, amid showers of rice, for a two-weeks' tour on the East Coast. They will visit many points of interest before returning.

Quite a number of very magnificent presents were received, the collection filling four large tables. Only one of these can be mentioned, because of lack of space. This was a very handsome set of silver knives, forks and spoons, presented by the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity of the University of Florida, of which Mr. Coe has been a most valued member for some time. All members of this fraternity attended the wedding in a body, and were given special seats during the ceremony. The groom's present to the bride was an exquisite Japanese tea service.

These young people have a host of friends who wish for them all the blessings and happiness that it is possible for humanity to receive.

A Delightful Surprise Party.

There was a most enjoyable surprise party given Mrs. D. T. English and family at their beautiful home Friday evening, Sept. 24th.

Games were played until 10 o'clock, when Misses Emma and Hattie English passed delicious cakes, fruits and fudge around to the guests. After all had partaken of the refreshments the guests were treated to several instrumental and vocal selections by Mrs. Brooks of Daytona, Mrs. Joe Chamberlin, Tacoma, and Miss LaVerne Bobbitt of McAnany, on the handsome piano which Miss Hattie English won in the piano contest.

Among the many guests were Mr. and Mrs. McCormick, Mrs. Hunt, Mr. Barrs, Messrs. W. G. Richardson and Keizer of Gainesville.

At a late hour the guests departed thanking Mrs. English for a most enjoyable evening. GUEST.

Then watch it closely. And above all things don't let it suffer for any length of time with worms—that is fatal. If its complexion gets yellow and pasty, if it is listless, cross or peevish, gets thin, suffers with flatulence, give it White's Cream Vermifuge—the only cure that never fails and has no bad effects. There is an independent fortune in store for the man who establishes a plant in Gainesville for the curing and baling of beggar weed hay. This article of feed is in every respect as good as alfalfa, and is a sure crop. Let someone get busy and establish the proper plant.

The American Prison Congress, which was recently in session at Seattle, took up the question of paroling life prisoners, and the discussion, following the favorable report of a committee appointed last year to deal with the subject, indicated that there is, among penological authorities, an increasing willingness to extend the parole system. Canada is applying it generously, an interview with the Dominion parole officer showing that about 400 convicts are now being released each year on ticket-of-leave. During the past ten years, 2,515 prisoners have been so released, and it appears that less than 5 per cent of the licenses have been cancelled for non-compliance with the terms of the parole and less than 2 per cent have been forfeited by a subsequent conviction for crime. There is no very convincing evidence as to the permanent effect of this leniency; the system has been in operation hardly long enough to yield statistics; but Canada's records seem to show that the per centage of prisoners who return to the penitentiaries after having served out their sentence is larger than that of those who come back after having enjoyed parole privilege.

Ingenuity and money both go to the making of moving picture films, and frequently an undertaking of this sort calls for courage as well. Out in Colorado an actual bear hunt is taking place in front of a camera, that it may subsequently be witnessed for a dime by persons who are interested in such amusements. First the bears were found and a guard was stationed about the thicket in which they were corralled. Then a blazed trail was made for the hunters, and an open space cut out for the man with the machine. When all is ready the hunters and the dogs will drive the bears out of the thicket into the open, and the "finish fight" is planned to take place there, while the moving picture man grinds out his film. If the bears should take a notion to turn on the camera and its operator there might be a different tale to tell. But of course if they are reasonable bears they will "look pleasant" in at least one direction while they are being photographed.

"The average laborer today is living better than Queen Elizabeth did in her time," is the astounding remark credited to James Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture. Let's see. Queen Elizabeth's wardrobe was replenished from the richest goods of the Orient. She lived amid luxury. Her table was famed for its lavishness and its prodigality. She may not have had all the "modern conveniences" in her palace, but she possessed material comforts in the greatest abundance. If Mr. Wilson had said that the average laborer of today lives better than the laborer of Queen Elizabeth's time, it would have been nearer the truth, although no more to the point in the argument he was attempting to make.

A department of journalism has been created by New York University, which turns the course over to instructors identified with its School of Commerce. Other universities have established schools of journalism under the instruction of sociologists, political economists, educators of one sort or another. We have yet to hear of a school of journalism directed by journalists. We wonder would a university think of engaging a clergyman to teach law, or a mechanical engineer to give instruction in medicine?

Conservatism seems to be the watchword among business interests at present. The rapid advance in prices for steel products accompanying the enormous output is unusual and unprecedented. Commodity prices are higher, and prospects are that some of them will reach a still greater altitude. Business has been expanding at a wonderful rate in the past few months. In fact, the improvement has been so rapid as to call the attention of the entire business world to the activities of American industries. In iron and steel centers the feeling prevails that in order to insure a more steady and healthy condition of trade it would be better for consumers to be less urgent in placing their orders, giving the mills an opportunity to fill those now on the books. As matters now stand the mills find it impossible to make deliveries on time, and the demand has been so great that despite the advance in prices for many products there has been an accumulation of orders that is now testing the full capacity of a number of the largest companies.

The practical working out of the Interstate Commerce law possesses keen interest for a man with so thorough a training and experience as President Taft, and the Interstate Commerce court which he proposes is the logical and natural application of it. This new body, which he proposed in his Des Moines speech, would both relieve the lower United States courts of appeal and turn cases of this order to a judicial body making a special study of such matters. It follows up the Government experts in railroad matters by expert judicial review of these complicated questions on which they act, as the proper sequel. It must aid the real value of the commission to railroads and shippers alike.

The fastest aeroplane that has yet been devised is also the smallest. It has only nine square yards of surface, or about one-sixth the surface of a Wright machine. This little flyer has made upwards of 35 miles an hour. Before long we shall doubtless have flying machines that can be folded up and packed in a suit case.

The offices of the Central Phosphate Company are to be located in Jacksonville. General Manager George Bassett, who is to have charge of the business, will also make that city his home. HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character, far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

"Destroy the cause—you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Camden, N.J.—"It is with pleasure that I add my testimonial to your already long list—hoping that it may induce others to avail themselves of this valuable medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered from terrible headaches, pain in my back and right side, was tired and nervous, and so weak I could hardly stand. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health and made me feel like a new person, and it shall always have my praise."

—Mrs. W. P. VALENTINE, 902 Lincoln Avenue, Camden, N.J.

Gardiner, Me.—"I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."

—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Me.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

BELIEVE IN THE FATES.

Greek Peasants and the Rule of the Moral Over Children.

The peasantry of Greece firmly believe that the future of every child is determined by the three fates, known by the name of the Moral. In the popular mind this trio of fates are supposed to be three old and wrinkled women whose habitation is a mountain cave. They come simultaneously to a house where a new baby has made its appearance, says the London Globe.

When they are expected all furniture is set aside so that their aged and tottering feet may not be hindered, and refreshments in the shape of honey cakes, bread and wine are placed ready for these important though invisible guests. Money, too, is placed for them as a bribe to get their favor for the baby, so that his future may be one long, sweet song, the superstition being that all things good and bad are in the giving of the fates.

On no account must the child's beauty be alluded to when the Moral are present, as this will certainly make its good looks disappear. Marks on a baby's skin are looked upon as sent by these harbingers of weal or woe.

Ill luck is supposed to be the lot of the children who cut their upper teeth first. There are one or two African tribes who so firmly believe this that they are said to kill all babies but those whose lower teeth appear first. Another race of people in the dark continent see all the signs of bad fortune in twins, and so they avoid it by slaying all of them.

THE SEA LION.

This Queer Beast Is the Owner of Four Huge Livers.

The head of the sea lion at close quarters is a blunt, rough, savage growl. It is well armed for battle, the mouth being an eight inch half circle studded with two rows of great sharp teeth. The body is heavily coated with seal brown hair, sun bleached to light yellow on the back and sides. The immensely long hind flippers have big strong claws imbedded in the flat upper surface several inches from the ends of the flipper. The fore flippers have the openings for these nails or claws, but in the particular female I dissected they were lacking.

The transparent waxy feelers about the jaw are much esteemed by the Chinese as toothpicks. About two dozen of these sensitive guards project from the upper lip. The ears are very small, not as large as a common cat's, and much depressed. The eyes are a deep, soft brown, but they can sparkle like flame in anger. When the dissecting knife laid the skin back we encountered a heavy layer of fat—rich, oily and fish smelling. The heart was very large, fully as big as a cow's, and the beast also owned four huge livers a foot and a half long. The meat is very red and, although eaten by the coast tribes, is too coarse and redolent of fish oil for any save a starving white. In fact, the whole beast has a most repulsive odor when in the sun. Freshly drawn from the water this is not noticeable.—Wide World Magazine.

THE CASSOWARY.

A Peculiar Bird That Fishes With Its Feathers.

Habits of the cormorant and of the fish hawk are generally known. Their methods of taking fish are very much like those of birds of prey. But the cassowary fishes according to a method of its own. A well known naturalist witnessed its operations on a river in the island of New Britain.

He saw a cassowary come down to the water's edge and stand for some minutes apparently watching the water carefully. It then stepped into the river where it was about three feet deep and, partially squatting down, spread its wings out, submerging them, the feathers being spread and ruffled.

The bird remained motionless and kept its eyes closed as if in sleep. It remained in this position for a quarter of an hour, when, suddenly closing its wings and straightening its feathers, it stepped out on the bank. Here it shook itself several times, whereupon a quantity of small fishes fell out of its wings and from amid its feathers. These the bird immediately picked up and swallowed.

The fishes had evidently mistaken the feathers for a kind of weed that grows in the water along the banks of the rivers in this island and which much resembles the feathers of the cassowary. The smaller fishes hide in these weeds to avoid the larger ones that prey on them.—Exchange.

THE MOON.

Its Visual Size No Greater When It Is High Than When It Is Low.

The artist has to choose between scientific truth and "convention" when he sets out to paint the moon. A three-penny piece fixed at a distance of six feet from the eye (say at the end of a horizontal six foot pole, the other end of which is made to press the lower edge of the eye socket) will just cover the disk of either the sun or the moon hanging in the sky. It is an absolute fact that this is true whether the moon (or the sun) be high in the sky or low down near the horizon.

The real "visual size" of the moon's disk is no greater when it is low than when it is high. No one who reads what I have just written will believe me. Every one thinks that he knows that the disk of the harvest moon or of the setting sun occupies a larger space in the sky when low than when high. This is due to a judgment or mental process and is an erroneous one. The eye is not at fault, but the curiously untrustworthy mind is.

What, then, is the painter to do? He yields to prejudice and often paints the low moon or low sun of a size which compared with scientific fact is ridiculously exaggerated.—Sir E. Ray Lankester in London Telegraph.

Her Choice.

They were sisters-in-law and reasonably well disposed toward each other. One was the mother of George, aged six months, and the other was the mother of Marian, aged six months and four days. It was impossible that a slight parental rivalry should be altogether concealed.

"Marian does not seem to grow very fast," said the mother of George, with a suggestion of commiseration in her tones. "George is much taller"—(height being measured in inches).

"Perhaps he is," replied the mother of Marian coldly, "but Marian weighs more."

"Oh, well," responded the sister-in-law, with a smile of high bred superiority, "of course I should not wish George to be gross."—Exchange.

The Kettledrum in Music.

In a lecture delivered at the Royal Society of Arts by Gabriel Cleather on the "Musical Aspect of Drums" it was contended that the kettledrum was one of the few perfect instruments in the orchestra, owing to the exactness of its scale. The kettledrum, he contended, was perfectly competent to produce atmosphere as well as rhythm. Even to tune the instrument three things were required—a perfect musical ear, a fine sense of touch and five years' experience. After playing over a kettledrum melody, written eighty years ago, from Meyerbeer's "Robert le Diable," Mr. Cleather continued, "I venture to say that, outside the musical profession, not one person in a hundred of those who listen to an orchestra in England today knows that tympani have notes and can give out a melody." No instrument, he added, had a greater range of power than the kettledrum, for none could be played more softly, and none had greater penetrating power.—Dundee Advertiser.

Story or Sermon?

"I was telling Baby Hilda a fairy story one night," said the sky pilot. "Baby Hilda is my little girl. The story was all about another little girl who was chased by bears and who ran to the edge of a steep mountain and jumped off. No, she didn't die. The minute she jumped off she turned into a bird with wings and flew. That was the story."

"Baby Hilda thought awhile about it, then she looked up and said, 'Papa, is that story true or was it just preaching?'"—New York Press.

The Value of Good Digestion

Is easy to figure if you know what your stomach is worth. Kodol keeps the stomach at par value, by insuring good digestion. Kodol cures Dyspepsia.

Kodol insures good digestion by absolutely duplicating Nature's normal process, in perfectly digesting all food taken into the stomach.

While Kodol is doing this, the stomach is resting—and becoming strong and healthy. A strong and healthy stomach guarantees a sound and active brain.

The man with a sound stomach—a stomach that is doing for the body just what Nature intended it to do—is the man who is always prepared for any emergency. He is "there with the goods."

The man with a sick stomach, is a man sick all over. When the stomach is irritated by undigested food, the blood and heart are directly affected. Then dullness, unnatural sleepiness, sick-headaches, vertigo and fainting spells, and even serious brain trouble develop. Kodol will prevent these.

Spurring the stomach and brain to special effort by "tonics" and "stimulants" doesn't cure anything, or accomplish any good. Neither does dieting. Indigestion and the serious ailments which it induces can be averted and corrected only by natural means.

Kodol supplies this natural means. It performs the stomach's work for it—just as the stomach should perform it—while the stomach takes a little rest, "for the stomach's sake."

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say, that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

TELEPHONE TALKS

The Long Distance System

One of the most valuable features of our service, to our subscribers and to the public generally, is our connection with the extensive long distance lines of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the other associated Bell Telephone companies.

We own thousands of miles of long distance lines in the seven States in which we operate and in addition can connect any telephone in our system with lines extending to any other city in which a Bell Telephone system is operated.

These long distance lines are of the most modern and improved construction and are maintained at a high state of efficiency. The Bell systems, operating in various sections of the country, are uniform in their equipment and in their methods of operating.

Only by reason of this close traffic arrangement between the Bell Telephone companies is it possible to go to a Bell Telephone almost anywhere ask for "Long Distance" and be put in communication with almost any point in the country.

This vast network of wires, radiating throughout the nation, is used daily in commerce and for social purposes by the banker, the farmer and citizens in all walks of life and our plant here is an important link in this great chain.

SAYS PEARY AND COOK BOTH REACHED POLE

Harry Whitney Sees No More Reason for Doubting Cook's Achievements Than Peary's.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Sept. 29.—Harry Whitney of New Haven believes that Dr. Frederick A. Cook found the pole and that Commander Peary did the same. In expressing this belief yesterday, Mr. Whitney said that he knows no reason of doubting Cook more than Peary.

"Dr. Cook's story," he added, "seems to me truthful and probable. Nothing else would explain his twelve months' absence."

The schooner "Jeanie" arrived here yesterday with Mr. Whitney aboard, coming from the Greenland coast by way of Indian Harbor, Labrador. Mr. Whitney feels keenly the position in which he is placed. He went North, he said, merely on a hunting trip, and now finds himself in the storm center of a Polar controversy. Dr. Cook left with him at Annatok several cases containing instruments, and some other belongings, but so far as Mr. Whitney knew, no written records. There may have been records, however, packed with Dr. Cook's personal effects, but the explorer did not tell him especially that he was leaving written records in his possession.

Speaking of Dr. Cook's detailed account of his trip to the pole, Mr. Whitney said that the explorer showed him how the western drift of the ice had landed him in a region far remote from where he expected to go, and he was unable to get back.

He could not speak with authority as to whether Dr. Cook and his two Eskimos could carry on their three sledges enough food for their journey to the pole, as he himself is a novice in Arctic traveling. He declared he knew nothing of the controversy beyond the vaguest details. The first he learned of it was at Indian Harbor when he received messages from several American papers asking for a statement.

Mr. Whitney denied that Commander Peary had removed Dr. Cook's stores from Annatok to Etah. What Peary really did was to transfer a few things and rebuild the house at Annatok. Boatswain Murphy's only reason for refusing to help Capt. Bernier's Canadian expedition to get dogs and sledges at Etah was that they were short of dogs themselves. Mr. Whitney had trouble in getting enough dogs for his own teams all through the winter and Murphy was looking out for Peary, so that he would have sufficient dogs for the commander's exploring trips around the country when he returned from the north.

Peary's Churlish Conduct.

The day the "Roosevelt" was leaving Etah for home Whitney informed Peary that Cook had entrusted to him certain belongings to bring home on the vessel that was coming up for Whitney, but as this ship had not arrived, Whitney was at a loss what to do with this property.

Peary declined to permit Dr. Cook's belongings to be brought aboard the "Roosevelt" and he put Whitney on his honor not to include anything belonging to Dr. Cook in his own luggage. Whitney thereupon went ashore from the "Roosevelt," separated Dr. Cook's property from his own baggage, and with the aid of

DEED WAS COMMITTED IN JUNE NEAR MICANOPY.

Wife of Defendant Still Holds to Her Original Statement Made at the Time.

The preliminary hearing of J. M. Verner, charged with the murder of Tom Wynne at Micanopy during last June, was held in the city before County Judge Mason yesterday, a large number having been summoned to testify in the case.

Since the publication of the killing, which was to the effect that Verner was crazy, owing to too much sickness, and committed the deed while he was probably demented, a different view has been brought out, and it now seems as if he was driven to the deed by the man interfering with his domestic affairs.

So strong has become the sentiment in Micanopy among a number of citizens that they raised a fund and succeeded in securing the services of an attorney to represent Verner at the hearing, and it will probably be a hard-fought case at the next session of circuit court in this city.

At the hearing yesterday the woman, Mrs. Verner, swore to her original story, which was published in these columns at the time of the tragedy, while, on the other hand, some of the evidence in behalf of Verner was introduced which showed that the man was aggravated, and that he was probably caused to commit the act by the actions of Wynne, who had repeatedly visited his home against his instructions to stay away.

Judge Mason held the defendant to the next term of court without bail, and a long and lengthy trial will probably result, since the action of some of the citizens coming to the relief of the unfortunate man.

Capt. Robert Bartlett, commander of the "Roosevelt," whom he had asked to help him, repacked Cook's property in boxes. After this had been done Whitney and Bartlett cached all Cook's property in a cave in the rocks. They built up the cave securely with stones and turf and left it, and the property in charge of one of Dr. Cook's Eskimos.

It may be remarked in passing, Mr. Whitney went on, that ten years ago, Peary did with the Explorer Sverdrup, who was cruising in Smith's sound, what he has done with Cook; he refused to bring back any of Sverdrup's letters or records.

In conclusion, Mr. Whitney declared he regretted being dragged into this controversy. He said he had found both Dr. Cook and Commander Peary courteous and considerate and that he had never met men whose conduct generally was more commendable or whose dealing with him had been more fair.

DR. COOK TALKS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Dr. Cook, when shown Mr. Whitney's statement, said last night that he approved of all that Mr. Whitney had said.

"Everything in the interview is substantially correct," said Dr. Cook. "It confirms all my declarations."

"Mr. Whitney was in all probability unaware of the written records being left with him. They are not of much consequence, I have duplicates."

MILLIONS OF PEOPLE SAW THE BIG PARADE

New York's Mayor Headed Line on Foot, Was Three Hours in Passing.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Through streets ablaze with bunting and lined with the greatest crowd ever gathered in New York thoroughfares, a parade of 20,000 men and fifty-four floats passed yesterday before the envoys of twenty-one nations participating in the Hudson-Fulton celebration. And in its passing, which occupied two hours' time, the epoch-making scenes of three centuries, represented in gigantic figures of wood, plaster, paint and tinsel, were reviewed.

The day was bright, and the celebration was held without an untoward incident. Along the route of the parade, a distance of over five miles, it is estimated that more than two million people gathered.

As a parade, it was as democratic as it was historical; as cosmopolitan as it was democratic. Mayor George B. McClellan and Herman Ridder, vice-president of the Hudson-Fulton celebration commission, headed the line and covered the entire distance afoot. There was no military show, no distinguished personages in vehicles; all, with the exception of the platoon of police mounted on their shiny-coated bay horses, were afoot.

A number of patriotic scenes were wildly cheered. Among them were "pulling down the statue of George III;" "publishing the constitution;" "storming of Stony Point;" "capture of Andre;" and "Washington taking oath of office."

It was before a distinguished gathering that the paraders passed. Vice-President James S. Sherman was flanked on either side by Admirals Le Pord and Seymour, of the French and English squadrons, respectively.

Governor Hughes, Seth Low, Kuni of Japan, and the German admiral, Von Koester, were nearby. Others in the official line were Rear Admiral Schuch, of the Atlantic fleet, and Major-General O. O. Howard, premier Court Justice Brewer.

Tammany in Parade.

Tammany, with a thousand members in "Prince Alberts" and hats, made a picturesque sight. Squads of school children, New University, Columbia City College, Rutgers College students; many of Irish, Italian, French, Scotch and other cosmopolitan groups followed, and behind them came others, seemingly without end.

With the end of the parade at Washington Square, the crowd broke out of bounds and swarmed back forth across the square, storming the floats to get souvenirs. It necessitated military severities from the police to save the line of march was kept well and in the crushes there were minor accidents, the victims of which were generally nervous women.

More than 6,000 sailors from ships now assembled in the New harbor, attended the performance at the Hippodrome last night as guests of the Hudson-Fulton celebration. No attempt was made to suit the light blue of the French form, the white tassel of the Ge jacket and the distinguishing uniform of warrant officers of the various

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The Western people and the Western banker," declares John W. Gates on his return from an extended trip through the great wheat and corn region, "have more money than ever before in their history, and there will be no extraordinary withdrawals of funds from the East for crop-moving purposes. International monetary conditions are such that if money rates are advanced materially on this side, millions of dollars in gold will be exported from Europe." The fact of the West's complete financial independence—or practically that—is one of the most impressive and significant in our recent business history. It was only 13 years or so ago that cash was the scarcest of all commodities in the agricultural States of the West, when the interest payments on farm mortgages held in the East were a drain on the Westerners' resources amounting to many millions of dollars yearly, when corn was being burned for fuel, when the popular cry out there was for "free silver" and the extermination of the "plutocrats," when pessimism was on every tongue and breathed from every line of newspaper type, and when William Allen White was one day moved to tell an interested world just what was "the matter with Kansas." Now all that has changed. The "wave of prosperity" following the Spanish-American war struck the West promptly and struck it hard—and the West wouldn't let it recede.

University of Wisconsin Establishes New Bureau

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 29.—The latest illustration of the nearness of the University of Wisconsin to the actual life of the State and of its intention to serve the age is its establishment of a municipal reference bureau, which will carry on three regular courses by correspondence in municipal government and administration and a series of popular lectures on civic subjects. Co-operating with the political science department of the university and with the highly developed pioneer legislative reference department of the State Library, the University intends to aid citizens of towns and cities to bring about a higher grade of administration. Already lecturers stand ready to respond to invitations on "City Government by Commission," "The City Beautiful," "Municipal Functions" and "What's the Matter With Our Cities."

Unusual Death Rate Among Governors The Past Year

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 29.—The recent mortality of Governors of States has been striking. Within a year Governors John A. Johnson of Minnesota, George L. Lilley of Connecticut, Samuel G. Cosgrove of Washington and John Sparks of Nevada have passed away. This is certainly an extraordinary number of gubernatorial deaths.

Governors Cosgrove and Lilley had been in office only a short time when the summons that no man may ignore or evade came to them. Both were inaugurated in January, and Governor Cosgrove died in March and Governor Lilley in April.

Of the chief magistrates who have died within a year Governors Johnson and Lilley had national reputations. Governor Johnson's prominence as a national figure was maintained during his service in executive chair, while Governor Ley's was achieved while he was in Congress and battling with the marine forces. Governor Sparks cupled the federal limelight for short time last year as the result of some breezy correspondence with President Roosevelt with reference to the miners' strike at Goldfield.

Philadelphia Politics Verging on Fever Heat

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—The municipal campaign is warming up. On two registration days, eleven thousand more voters have qualified than on the corresponding days a year ago, when a President was to be elected. This promises well for the Independents, although the Republican machine may be counted upon to make an heroic effort to register its full vote—and something

October 2. The familiar methods of fraudulent registration continue to enliven the City of Brotherly Love and Crooked Politics. One of the registrars in Boss McNichol's hall wick has been convicted of placing the names of dead men and famous characters of fiction upon the voting list. It cannot be supposed that this particular registrar was alone guilty of the padded vote of the Tenth War

TWO NEGRESSES FIGHT AT WILCOX SUNDAY

ONE WOMAN BADLY SLASHED WITH POCKET KNIFE.

Injuries Are Many and Some Serious
Gashes Were Made on Head and Body.

A serious cutting affray was witnessed at Wilcox on Sunday evening when Rebecca Grant carved up Bertha Mason, both negroes of the lower class, and which was started over the usual thing—a man.

It was several minutes after the women had become involved in the fight before anyone could be secured to separate the belligerents, and the Grant woman succeeded in making a number of long and ugly gashes about the head, as well as three long and painful wounds on the body, of the Mason woman before assistance arrived.

By the prompt arrival of Deputy Sheriff Lock, the Grant woman was prevented from killing the other party, for she was still using her knife with all the vigor she possessed when the deputy came upon them.

Both women will be given a usual preliminary hearing before Justice Everett at that place as soon as the exact results of the injuries are known and the injured woman is able to get around.

The Grant woman claimed she cut her assailant because she had thrown potash in her face in an attempt to put out her eyes, and that she would have done more to the negroess if she had not been stopped by the officer. The Mason woman did not have a knife or other weapon, and was compelled to cling to the other party and use her fists as best she could to subdue her while she was making inroads on her anatomy.

WHEN TO SPRAY FOR WHITE FLY

By E. W. Berger of Florida Agricultural Experiment Station.

This bulletin has been written to meet the requirements of those who prefer to spray with insecticides, and for those who find it necessary to use spraying solutions when fungus is difficult to obtain, or during periods of protracted dry weather when the fungi spread but little.

The young of the citrus whitefly (sometimes incorrectly called eggs), are scale-like, and pass through five stages of development, increasing from about one-eighth of an inch to about one-eighteenth of an inch. The first four stages are spoken of by numbers (first, second, third, and fourth larval stages); but the fifth, the transformation stage from which the winged whitefly emerges, is called the pupa. The best time to spray with contact insecticides is when these insects are mostly in the first three larval stages, or the thin flat fourth stage. Those in the thick fourth, or in the pupal stage, are less easily killed, and require a stronger insecticide. The eggs of the whitefly cannot be destroyed by ordinary insecticides, and it is useless to spray the winged adults.

When to Spray—There are two principal periods when the whitefly is in the younger stages. The first period is in April or May, and begins about two weeks after the winged whiteflies have ceased swarming and have disappeared. The advantages of spraying at this time may be summed up as follows: (1) The whiteflies are in the young larval stages and are easily killed; (2) they are mainly on the new growth and more easily sprayed; (3) the larvae are destroyed before sapping the strength of the new growth, and before much sooty mold has developed; (4) there is little rain to interfere with the spraying.

Spraying may also be carried on any time during the summer after the second brood of adult whiteflies has been out for several weeks; but since during this time the whitefly develops irregularly, there being all stages present in considerable numbers at all times, and since rains are generally abundant, spraying at this time is not advised, except when the trees are suffering greatly.

The second best period for spraying is in October or November, or soon after the adult whiteflies have wholly or nearly disappeared, and after the last layings of eggs have hatched. Groves sprayed in the early part of last November with a spraying mixture whose principal ingredient was whale-oil soap (about 1 pound to 16 gallons of water), showed that about 90 per cent of the larvae had been killed. The advantages of fall spraying may be summed up as follows: (1) The young larvae are abundant and easily killed; (2) they are killed before they wax fat on the trees; (3) there are few rains to interfere with spraying.

Spraying Solutions—Since spraying for the young whitefly larvae must be done in spring, summer, or fall, when either tender leaves or fruit are on the trees, it is evident that a spraying solution must be employed which will not injure the foliage or fruit. Any good contact insecticide can be employed, provided it is sufficiently diluted.

It has been found that soap solutions of 1 pound of soap to 6 gallons of water, destroyed all the larvae in the first three stages, and most of those in the fourth and pupal stages. Thorough spraying resulted in destroying between 90 and 95 per cent of all the larvae on the leaves. Soap solutions of 1 pound of soap to 9 gallons of water destroyed about 50 per cent. Good's polish whale-oil soap No. 3 was used, and also Octagon soap. It is probable that any kind of soap will be effective against these young larvae. In winter it would probably be necessary to use the soap stronger, say 1 pound to 4 gallons of water; but a weak solution when used in spring, summer, or fall, will give better results than the stronger solution in winter.

"Golddust" was also used on young larvae at the rate of 1 pound to 4 gallons of water, and 90 to 95 per cent killed. Preliminary chemical examination of Golddust showed that it consisted of about 25 per cent of soap, 62 per cent of washing soda, and about 13 per cent of water. Golddust is an expensive mixture to use for spraying. One part of whale-oil soap with three parts of washing soda gave practically the same result as Golddust, when each was used in the proportion of 1 pound to 4 gallons of water. One pound of whale-oil soap to 9 gallons of water gave practically the same results as the whale-oil soap and soda mixture, at about the same cost, which was a little less than half a cent per gallon. Whale-oil soap is therefore a cheaper material to use for spraying than Golddust. A mixture equally as good as Golddust can be made from whale-oil soap and washing soda, at about one-half the cost.

The farewell service by the pastors of the city to the Rev. F. H. Craighill, at the Presbyterian church on last Sunday evening, was largely attended, the house being well filled with all denominations who had assembled to pay their respects to the departing rector of the Episcopal church.

During the residence of Dr. Craighill in this city he has done a great deal for his church and congregation, and by his untiring efforts this small band can now boast of one of the finest buildings, not only in this city, but in any city of the State.

Dr. Craighill has also been a tireless and efficient worker in bringing in new members to his church, and the many kind words spoken in his behalf by the ministers who had labored with him and learned to love him and his work, were truly words of commendation that came from a people who trust that he will meet with hearty and cordial welcome at his new home.

The retiring rector and his family will take their departure from this city on Wednesday of the present week for Wytheville, Va., and the best wishes of the entire city follow him in his new field of work.

KILLED HIS WIFE OVER TRIVIAL MATTER

ANOTHER NEGRO MURDERED IN WESTERN PART OF COUNTY.

Husband Became Enraged Because Wife Had Shook Hands With Another Man.

News has been received in Gainesville of another killing in the Jonesville section, near the home of H. A. Pickett, when a negro man by the name of Simmons killed his wife.

The negroes had been residents of that section for some time and were apparently happy from all reports until Sunday evening, when the man became enraged at his wife, it is stated, because she had shook the hand of another negro. It is stated that after a few words with the woman about the matter the man cut her throat and killed her.

Following the murder of his wife it is said he hitched up his horse and buggy, placed the woman in the same and drove to the home of her mother near Pineville, where he dumped the corpse and took his departure.

Although the man has been hunted for diligently by the officers of that section nothing had been heard from him up to a late hour Tuesday afternoon, and they were still on the hunt.

Further than the fact that the man became angry at the woman because she had shook the hand of another man, nothing could be learned concerning the tragedy, and he has doubtless made good his escape. It was several hours afterwards before the officers were notified and placed on the trail of the murderer.

MIXSON—TATUM.

The Charlotte (N. C.) News of Sept. 21st contains the following account of the marriage of Mr. T. H. Tatum and Miss Mary Louise Mixson, which will be read with interest by friends of the contracting parties here:

"A surprise marriage which caused an excited flutter of interest among the many friends of the groom in this city took place last night when Miss Mary Louise Mixson of Gainesville, Fla., was married to Mr. Thos. H. Tatum. The happy event occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scarratt, No. 419 North College street, intimate friends of the parties to the contract. Dr. Herman H. Hulten, pastor of the First Baptist church, performed the ceremony, using the ring and making a beautiful dissertation on the significance of marriage.

"The bride has been spending the past four or five weeks at Hiddenite and was passing through the city on her way back home when Mr. Tatum succeeded in persuading her to abruptly end the journey, and start on

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Paw Paw, Mich.—"I suffered terribly from female ills, including inflammation and congestion, for several years. My doctor said there was no hope for me but an operation. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I can now say I am a well woman." ENMA DRAPER.

Another Operation Avoided. Chicago, Ill.—"I want women to know what that wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has done for me. Two of the best doctors in Chicago said I would die if I did not have an operation, and I never thought of seeing a well day again. I had a small tumor and female troubles so that I suffered day and night. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it made me a well woman."—MRS. ALVENA SPERLING, 11 Langdon St., Chicago, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to many suffering women.

an entirely new one, thus joyously culminating a romance of several years' standing. Mr. Tatum met Miss Mixson in Salisbury, where she was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Scarratt, who are themselves former Gainesville residents, and who at that time lived in Salisbury, where he held a position.

"Telegrams went thick over the wires yesterday to secure the consent of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ben Mixson of Gainesville, and this was cheerfully given. It had been planned originally to have the wedding at Gainesville this fall, but Cupid is an impatient young heart-hunter, and therefore this sudden change in the plans which has so interested the friends of these young people today. The bride is in mourning for a sister, and hence the wedding would have been a very quiet one, even had it been taken place as originally planned.

"As it was, there were only a few friends present. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Scarratt, at whose home the bride was visiting, there was the bride's sister, Miss Lenora Mixson, of Jacksonville, Fla., who by a mere chance, a coincidence, was passing through the city. There was only time to drive to the station, put her in a carriage and hurry her to the home, and she did not know that the orange blossoms were a-blow until she reached the house and learned from her sister's lips. Miss Lenora Mixson had also been taking her vacation in the mountains and was on her way home.

"Besides these mentioned, other witnesses were Miss Minnie Simmons of Cincinnati, Mrs. E. T. Henderson of this city, and Mr. E. Walter Tatum of Salisbury, brother of the groom.

"After the ceremony the bridal party went to the home of Mrs. E. T. Henderson, on South Tryon street, where an elegant dinner was given in honor of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Tatum are making their home at the Central Hotel.

"Mr. Tatum is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Tatum, of Davie county, and is a trusted employee of the firm of the Ed Mellon Co. He is a Christian young man of the finest character, and greatly beloved by a host of friends.

"Mrs. Tatum is a young woman of lovely disposition, of charm and culture, and the two are being showered today with the congratulations of their friends."

NOTED CATTLE THIEF KILLED AT HALF MOON

CAIN PERRY SENT TO HAPPY
HUNTING GROUNDS.

Negro Had Been Sent to Pen Several Times for Stealing Cattle in Newberry Section.

HALF MOON, Sept. 27.—Cain Perry, a negro cattle thief, was shot and killed by unknown parties at Watermelon Lake, near here, a few days ago while in the act of butchering another man's cow. Perry had been sent to the penitentiary several times for stealing cattle, and when his sentence expired he invariably returned to this neighborhood and resumed his thieving occupation. His death is a great relief to cattle owners of both races in Western Alachua, and it is not probable that any effort will be made to ferret out his slayers.

Notes.

The family of S. T. Skipper, who have resided at Half Moon for more than two years, have moved to Rochelle. Their friends regret their departure.

Mr. Deleany of Dunnellon is the new section master here.

Mr. Birch, wife and two children of Newberry, have moved here.

T. R. Pickett, a successful planter of this section, has moved his family to his farm at Half Moon.

P. I. Hatchcox, one of Alachua county's prominent planters, has gathered his corn for the present year, and says he has made more this year than he made in the last two years. Mr. Hatchcox will begin manufacturing his syrup the first Monday in October.

M. Venable of Archer is having a spur put in at Half Moon and will move his sawmill here and begin sawing in a few days.

LETTER TO JOHN CHESNUT, Gainesville, Florida.

Dear Sir: Brevity is the soul of truth:

Devoe takes less gallons for a job than any other paint.

And the paint that takes least gallons wears longest; always. We can't help it. Yours truly,

F. W. DEVOE & CO.

P. S.: The Gainesville Hardware Co. sell our paint.

Has Returned to Gainesville.

From Tuesday's Daily Sun:

F. H. McDonnell, who was for a number of months cashier of the Southern Express office in this city and who resigned a short while since, has again returned to make this his future home. So well satisfied was he with the city and its people that he was willing to return and accept the position as billing clerk which was made vacant by Mr. Register's resignation. Mac held a good position with the express people while away, but the longing for Gainesville caused him to return.

A Narrow Escape.

Edgar N. Bayliss, a merchant of Robinsonville, Del., wrote: "About two years ago I was thin and sick, and coughed all the time and if I did not have consumption, it was near it. I commenced using Foley's Honey and Tar, and it stopped my cough, and I am now entirely well, and have gained twenty-eight pounds, all due to the good results from taking Foley's Honey and Tar." J. W. M. Collum & Co.

Off for Woman's College.

From Wednesday's Daily:

Quite a party of Gainesville young ladies left yesterday for Tallahassee to enter the State College for Women. Among the number in the party were Misses Mary Baird, Ethel Durst, Montine Fagan, Irene Perry and Ruth Doig.

Warning.

Do not be persuaded into taking anything but Foley's Honey and Tar for chronic coughs, bronchitis, hay fever, asthma, and lung trouble, as it stops the cough and heals the lungs. J. W. M. Collum & Co.

Editor Howard's valedictory to The Orlando Reporter-Star is as follows: "Good bye, little girl, good bye. We've been mighty faithful to you. We've nursed you and fed you and coddled you and made you say sweet things every day, without a single miss, no matter how we felt, ever since you came into our hands. But this is the age of divorces and we have come to the parting of the ways. So long, little girl, so long!" Mr. Howard will hereafter devote his energies to building up The Citizen, which he has moved to Orlando.

A large sign board at White House, a forsaken station on the S. A. L. railway between Jacksonville and Baldwin, conveys the information that five-acre lots can be bought there for one hundred dollars. Why the devil does a fellow want to pay one hundred dollars for five acres of land at White House when he can purchase the same amount for less than half the sum at Paradise? White House is a very pretty name, 'tis true, but it does not compare with Paradise. When we have to make a change of residence we are going to cast our lot in Paradise—provided our credentials are sufficient to admit our entry. White House is further from Jacksonville than Paradise is from Gainesville.

SENATORIAL CANDIDATES.

The following editorial from The Tampa Tribune escaped our attention until it was copied in The Pensacola News, but it is so breezy and original in its manner of handling the candidates that we feel it will interest our readers:

"The Senatorial race for 1910 may be said to be already on. Four avowed candidates are in the field, not including the present incumbent, who may be safely counted as a candidate for re-election. This list is:

"J. P. Talliaferro, of Jacksonville.
"W. A. Blount, of Pensacola.
"L. J. Reeves, of Pensacola.
"Claude L'Engle, of Tallahassee.
"N. B. Broward, of Jacksonville.

"Every candidate in the list is from the northern section of the State. Not one is from the peninsular section. Jacksonville has two candidates (and the present junior Senator), Pensacola has two and Tallahassee one. South Florida's vote will decide the result. The balance of power is in this section. The strongest man in South Florida will be the winner.

"Of the five, Talliaferro and Broward are the strong candidates, at the present outlook. Blount would be a close contestant but for the fact that he has opposition in his own stronghold. Reeves will not get the vote that Blount will but practically every vote he gets will be a vote taken from Blount. He will make much greater inroads upon Blount than L'Engle will upon Broward. L'Engle will get a scattering vote in every part of the State. Blount will get a heavy vote in West Florida and a respectable vote in other sections. Reeves' strength will be limited to West Florida. Broward will carry the vestige of his former alliances, which, however, will be a formidable array of Browardites, a sort of 'Old Guard,' faithful to Napoleon. It is a force to be reckoned with in Florida. Some of it will go to L'Engle, but the L'Engle automobile will not be of great carrying capacity. It is liable to break down at any stage of the road and spill its occupants into the mud, where they will be picked up by the less showy but surer vehicles of other competitors. The L'Engle automobile will disseminate fuss and odor and will make the campaign more lively, even if more nauseous. But, if it crosses the finish line at all, it will be after the prize has been awarded, the winner congratulated and the crowd gone home.

"What of Talliaferro? He has said nothing and, so far as is apparent, done nothing as yet in relation to the contest. He has not even suggested the possibility of his candidacy—doubtless not deeming this necessary. But he's running now—that may be counted on. He realizes the difficulties of the contest, the new considerations and exactions incident to the new material which has offered itself before the people. Every man who will oppose him, except Broward, is an unknown quantity, so far as a State-wide contest is concerned. Not one of them has been a candidate before the people of the whole State. Blount, the astute, serious-minded, sober-mannered lawyer, hitherto wedded to his profession, in politics only as an indulgence or to assist his friends; Reeves, a judge and a State Senator, little known outside of his immediate neighborhood; L'Engle, journalistic free lance, well advertised, his real strength with the people before whom he has spectacularly disappeared for several years never yet tested—it is a puzzling combination, one to baffle the shrewdest of prognosticators. Against this field, three unknown, one known but subject to change, Senator Talliaferro must enter and fight.

"There is little doubt that, in South Florida, the present Senator is the strongest of the candidates. While a citizen of Jacksonville, his interests primarily linked with that section of the State, he has interests with us and he has reason to be with us. He has aided this section at every possible juncture in his career at Washington—and he is a man of power and influence at the capital. He has been in the Senate long enough to acquire a voice that counts for much more than his vote, the standing and the influence that, when necessary, can add other votes to his vote. Every member of Congress has a vote—the standing and the influence that when necessary, can add other votes to his vote. Senator Talliaferro is one of these. There is only one other man in the race who has the force and the ability of Mr. Talliaferro, and that is Mr. Blount. But, even though Mr. Blount were far superior to Mr. Talliaferro in ability, he could not acquire the influence at Washington that Mr. Talliaferro possesses in one term or in two terms. The man who's THERE has the advantage of experience, of acquaintance, of alignments and associations that make him increasingly valuable to his State in the proportion of the length of his service.

"The race will be one of the most interesting that Florida ever knew. Nor is this far distant. It will be the first political excitement of the coming year. It will barely have passed and subsided, when the fury of the prohibition campaign will burst upon us.

"Regardless of the result of the two contests which will engage the whole State, we'll not lack for an uproar.

"No matter who gets the Senatorship and no matter how the prohibition election goes, we are sure, to use the vigorous language of Henry Watterson, to have a 'hell of a disturbance.'"

THE BEST OPENING UNIVERSITY EVER HAD

NUMBER OF STUDENTS EXCEEDS ANY PREVIOUS YEAR.

Short and Appropriate Addresses Were Made by President Murphree and Congressman Clark.

The opening of the University of Florida for the fall term of 1909-10 was one of the most successful ever held in this city, and one that will long be remembered by the citizens who attended.

The large chapel was filled to overflowing with visitors from the city, while quite a few of the strangers who had accompanied their sons here remained over for this event.

Dr. Murphree, the newly elected president who has done so much for the advancement of the school during his short connection, made a few appropriate and well-chosen remarks concerning the school, its work, aim and what it would be to the city if properly encouraged. He was followed by Rev. Mr. Cloar, the new Baptist minister, who assured the student body that he was with them in their athletic sports, and if necessary was there when it comes to football, but he could always be counted upon to render them any assistance in his power. His remarks were followed by cheerful words from Revs. Hays and Bridges.

One of the most pleasing addresses, which was impromptu, was that of Congressman Frank Clark, who responded, after having been called upon, in his usual clever manner. His tribute to the school, to Gainesville, and the entire State was well worthy of mention. He layed great stress on the ability of the Florida youth, and said that with the proper co-operation of the citizens of Gainesville the University could and would become one of the greatest schools of the South, for it had, besides the good town and good people, the finest of all climates in which to attract the Northern student here during the winter months.

The dormitory and cottage have all been filled, and the registration showed up at noon as follows: For the University department 104, law department 25, a total of 129, with many more yet to register and be assigned to their classes.

Foreign nations were seen in all parts of the immense throng, relieving the solid navy blue worn by the American and Englishmen.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the explorer; Governor Hughes of New York and Governor Fort of New Jersey were among the guests at a banquet tendered by the citizens of uptown New York to distinguished visitors at the celebration.

Elks Parade Streets of Miami With Caged Victims

MIAMI, Sept. 27.—The Miami Lodge of Elks conducted an unusually interesting initiation at their last meeting, when four candidates were hauled on a farm wagon through the principal streets in a cattle-crate.

By appointment, the candidates, W. B. Gross, Jasper P. Tucker and Thomas J. O'Brien of Ft. Pierce, and Roddy Burdine of Miami, met a committee of Elks at the San Carlos Hotel, where they were given certain instructions. They were then blindfolded and led to the cattle-crate, where they were locked in, each with a chain around his neck. Hay, grain and turnips were furnished the prospective Elks, in case they became weak from hunger.

When securely inside the crate the four candidates were allowed to re-

COUNTY BUILDING ANOTHER ROCK ROAD

GAINESVILLE PARTIES ASSISTING IN NEEDED IMPROVEMENT.

New Stretch of Road Will Prove a Great Convenience for Many Citizens.

Another and very important piece of hard road work is now being done by the county commissioners, and it will afford a great deal of comfort and pleasure to a large number of citizens who reside southwest of Gainesville, particularly in the Rocky Point section.

While the most direct route has always been for the people of that section to come to this city via Colclough hill, they have been compelled to travel a few miles out of their way to avoid about two miles of the deepest sand to be found in the county.

This part of the road is situated between Cannon's crossing and what is known as the terminus of the rock road going south. This condition is now being remedied and the material, which is easily accessible, is being furnished free, while teams are being donated by Messrs. S. M. Davis, and Crawford & Davis, and the work is being done by the commissioners, who readily saw the advantage that such a short distance would prove to a great number of people.

Until the time of railroad facilities over the G. & G. railway the farmers there were compelled to haul their vegetables to this city through this road, and it proved a great hardship as well as inconvenience. The new road will be hailed with delight by the large number of citizens who have occasion to travel it.

Arredondo people and parties living south of that point can also come over this new route and save both time and the heavy hauling, for it will shorten the road in all about three miles not only to western points, but to Wacahoota and the south.

ORANGE HEIGHTS.

ORANGE HEIGHTS, Sept. 29.—Mrs. Hicks, Waldo Hicks and wife, and Mr. Tillis of Waldo attended services here Sunday afternoon and night, returning home by moonlight, taking Miss Daisy Hicks with them; but Grandma Boring remained with us until the close of the meeting.

Dr. and Mrs. Curtis returned home from their summer vacation Wednesday of this week.

The religious meetings closed on Wednesday of this week, and Rev. T. L. Z. Barr left early Wednesday morning for Williston, where he will attend the district conference. No delegate attended from here, but a written report was sent.

Lake Butler is having sidewalks and other improvements made. An electric lighting and ice plant are soon to be erected.

REPORT WAS EXAGGERATED.

Sam Hurd, Reported Murdered, Turns Up Much Alive.

Sam Hurd, the negro driver for D. G. Edwards on the oil wagon which travels in all sections of the county, was reported murdered on Tuesday morning, and the news spread rapidly. Sheriff Ramsey, in company with others, rushed to where the wagon was last seen, to find the negro busily engaged trying to extricate his wagon from a serious mud hole where he had been bogged for a number of hours. The fact that the negro left here early Monday morning and was due to return Monday night about 1 o'clock with the contents of his load converted into cash, gave further evidence that he had probably been murdered for the money, and Mr. Edwards was deeply worried.

The negro stated that he got into the bog, and after trying the greater part of Monday to get out, finally abandoned the team and went into a cage to spend the night, resuming his work Tuesday morning.

Someone passing had noticed the team there and supposed that the driver had been killed and his money confiscated, which caused the report to gain such notoriety.

MONEY BACK.

J. W. McCollum & Co. Sell a Remedy for Catarrh on That Liberal Basis.

Breathe Hyomei over the germ-ridden membrane, and it will kill the germs, and cure catarrh.

There is no other way—you must get where the germs are before you can destroy them.

And when catarrh germs have disappeared, other things will happen; there will be no more hawking, not even in the morning; that offensive breath will disappear; there will be no more obnoxious mucous, or coughing, or sneezing, or huskiness of voice, or difficulty in breathing. All these disagreeable accessories of the demon catarrh will disappear, and as they go the glow of health will return, and all the strength and energy that was formerly used in combating the inroads of catarrh, will bring back your vitality and ambition, will make a new, healthy, happy being of you in a few weeks.

PE-RU-NA USED FOR KIDNEY CATARRH

William Bailey.

Gen. A. F. Hawley, of Washington, D. C., writes: "I have used Peruna and find it very beneficial for kidney trouble, and a good cough and cold remedy."

Kidney Trouble for Nearly Thirty Years.

William Bailey, Past Col. Enc. No. 89, Union Veteran Legion, and recently identified with many of the great labor protective associations of Chicago and New York, and secretary of one of the largest associations in the former city, had for nearly thirty years been afflicted with kidney troubles.

Within a short period he has been persuaded to try Peruna, a present healthy condition is attributed to his judicious use of that remedy. Washington climate is notoriously bad for kidney and troubles, yet by a judicious use of the remedy he is now quite cured excellent physical condition.

This brief statement of facts, without exaggeration or hyperbole, is to tell the whole story, which the Peruna Company is authorized to do so chooses, believing, as I do, that by so doing it will be for the good.

William Bailey, 58 I St., N. E., Washington, D. C.

Kidneys Affected—Back Weak.

Mr. M. Broderick, Secretary and Treasurer Local Union No. 406, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, writes from 435 E. 46th St., Chicago, Ill., as follows:

"I have been suffering from a weak back and kidney trouble for some time, and have been able to find relief only through the use of Peruna."

"During the winter season I usually keep a bottle of your medicine in the house, and by taking a dose at night I am feeling fine the next morning."

"Some of my friends assure me that Peruna is equally as good for their various ailments as it is for my complaint; but I do know that for kidney trouble and suffering from a weak back it has no equal."

Cold Settled in Kidneys.

Mr. Joseph Klee, 215 East 4th St., Topeka, Kas., writes:

"My wife took Peruna for liver trouble and a run-down condition incident to the same. A few bottles built health and strength."

"I took Peruna for a cold which settled in my kidneys, giving me pain. In two weeks I was much better, and in a few months I was well."

For Liver and Kidneys.

Mr. W. H. Armistead, Camb. C. H., Va., writes:

"Your Peruna has cured me of catarrh of long standing. I thank you so much for your advice. I think a great medicine. It will do you recommend it to do. Beside recommending it to cure all liver and kidney troubles."

Chronic Kidney Trouble.

Judge C. J. Park, R. F. D. 1, near Can., writes:

"For a long time I was troubled with catarrh of the kidneys, and after Peruna I feel like a new man. I think the greatest catarrh medicine ever made, and believe it will cure any catarrh on record."

NEGRO LYNCHED FOR MURDERING MARSHAL

PERRY, Sept. 27.—Chief of Police J. M. Hawkins was shot and instantly killed by a negro named Charley Anderson here Saturday night about 8 o'clock.

Anderson had, just a few minutes before, shot at a negro with whom he had been disputing over some trivial matter, and when Chief Hawkins entered his shoe and harness repair shop on Florida avenue to place him under arrest he shot him with a shot gun at close range, the whole load taking effect in the side of the face and head and producing death almost instantly.

The entire town was shocked and grieved over the tragedy, as Mr. Hawkins was one of the most efficient and fearless officials in the State. He had served in this capacity for several years and has always been a terror to evildoers. He was a son of J. W.

Hawkins, who once served Suwannee county for several years as sheriff and did much good by running criminals and upholding the dignity of the law.

Chief Hawkins leaves a wife, sides parents and other relatives gathered with hosts of personal friends to mourn his untimely and tragic death.

Charley Anderson, the negro murdered Chief of Police Hawkins, was safely lodged in jail to await action of the courts in meting justice, but a party of citizens for an entrance to the jail between 12 o'clock, took the prisoner out quietly led him to the scene of murder and there hanged him up the end of the building in which murder was committed, after which his body was riddled with bullets. Everything is quiet here today.

Hudson Palisades Saved From Blasting By Sale

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Fourteen years of unremitting efforts to save the beautiful palisades of the west bank of the Hudson river from destruction by blasting were crowned with success yesterday when the completion of the purchase of the entire strip of palisades from Fort Lee, N. J., to Piermont, N. Y., was announced. This strip of land and precipitous cliff, fourteen miles long, constitutes one of the most picturesque bits of scenery in the State, and under the plan by which the work of redemption has been accomplished it will become the Palisades Interstate Park. It comprises 700 acres of level land giving opportunity for a beautiful boulevard drive along the base of the cliff and splendid opportunity for camping and other recreation. The millions of persons huddled in the tenements of New York and near by cities. One of the achievements remaining to be accomplished is the building of this proposed drive along the river ledge at the base of the cliff, connecting New York by the Fort Lee ferry with the good roads of the west bank of the Hudson.

The cost of this park is about $627,000, of which $502,000 was paid by the States of New York and New Jersey and $125,000 by contribution of J. Pierpont Morgan.

COMPLIMENTARY LINEN SHOWER

Miss McClellan Receives Many Useful and Handsome Articles.

From Sunday's Daily Sun:

Mrs. M. B. Saunders tendered Miss Sallie McClellan a complimentary linen shower at her lovely home on Friday afternoon from 4 to 6:30, which was largely attended and proved a most pleasant gathering for those present.

Miss McClellan will, on next Wednesday, wed Mr. Harry Coe of Tampa, and it was on this account that the shower was tendered. About fifty of the young lady friends of the bride were present, and all remembered her in a most substantial manner, a number of choice articles for the household being presented.

Light refreshments were served and in all the afternoon was most pleasantly spent, and will long be remembered by the large number participating.

Has Made Good Sales.

From Wednesday's Daily Sun:

Col. J. W. Patton has during the past few days made some large and valuable real estate deals which will eventually mean something for the new purchasers. He has just sold the old King homestead at Wacahoota, consisting of 800 acres, to T. J. Cone, while a company consisting of M. Venable, Davis and Coe, have purchased all of the Walls tract, comprising something like 1,800 acres, and some of the finest farming lands to be found in the county.

AWFUL RASH ALL OVER BOY'S BODY

Weeping Eczema Kept Spreading on Little Sufferer—A Score of Treatments Prove Dismal Failures—Grateful Father Tells of

CURE ACHIEVED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"It gives me great pleasure to express my deep gratitude in appreciation of the incalculable benefit that the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent did my little boy. He had an awful rash all over his body and the doctor said it was eczema. It was terrible and used to water awfully. Any place the water went it would form another sore and it would become crusted. A score or more physicians failed utterly and dismally in their efforts to remove the trouble. Then I was told to use the Cuticura Remedies. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and before we had used half the Resolvent I could see a change in him. In about two months he was entirely well. When people see him now they ask: 'What did you get to cure your baby?' and all we can say is, 'It was the Cuticura Remedies.' So in us Cuticura will always have firm and warm friends. George F. Lambert, 139 West Centre St., Mahanoy City, Pa., September 26 and November 4, 1907."

PELLAGRA AT PERRY.

The Perry Herald of recent date contained the following:

"It is said that the dreadful new disease, pellagra, which is ravaging other sections, has shown up in Perry. Mr. Thos. Whiddon is said to have been suffering for several months, though it was only during the past few days that the nature of his trouble was definitely determined. Pellagra is said to be caused by eating corn bread made from musty or molded corn. It is not contagious, and the many friends of Mr. Whiddon hope that he will soon recover."

PEARY WANTS DR. COOK TO SHOW HIS OLD SHOES

Reported As Having Known In Greenland That Cook
Would Claim Discovery of Pole.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 27.—It was learned last night from a source close to Commander Peary that the commander justifies his action of refusing to allow Dr. Frederick A. Cook's instruments or records on board the homeward bound steamer "Roosevelt" on the theory that he had been aware for some time of Cook's intention to claim the discovery of the North Pole and that Peary, therefore, would sanction nothing to aid this project.

Peary's forthcoming statement concerning Cook, it was also learned, will charge that the Brooklyn explorer cannot produce shoes, sledges or other equipment which will show the wear and tear that comes from travel over the Arctic ice.

It seems evident that Peary is desirous of issuing his statement in the near future, especially since the arrival of Harry Whitney at Indian Harbor. While he declared that Whitney has no part in the controversy, Commander Peary nevertheless has received messages concerning Whitney's progress. He has, however, made no attempt to communicate with Whitney and says that he will make none.

The "Roosevelt" arrived unexpectedly yesterday at Eagle Island, to leave Peary's personal belongings and to receive supplementary orders.

After unloading Peary's belongings, which filled four or five small boats, the "Roosevelt" had steam up last night ready to sail for New York. Commander Peary will go to Bar Harbor today for a conference with Gen. Thomas H. Hubbard, president of the Peary Arctic Club. He will remain there until Tuesday night, possibly later, and it is there that he will probably issue the formal statement attacking Dr. Cook.

Negro Doesn't Believe Cook.

Although all hands on board the "Roosevelt" were instructed not to talk about the Cook controversy, Mat Henson, the negro cook, who was with Peary in his final dash north, said that he had talked with every Eskimo who went up with Cook and knew every one of them, but was not at liberty to reveal what he had learned. Henson said, further, that Cook had practically no experience when he went North; that he knew nothing about building sledges and was absolutely inexperienced in driving Eskimo dogs. Henson said that he was of the opinion that Cook could not even harness a dog correctly.

Capt. Bartlett of the "Roosevelt" seemed much perturbed over the reports that he entertained any ill-feeling because Peary took Henson on the last dash and left him behind. "I had no idea of going to the pole," says Bartlett in a signed statement issued last night. "I went up there to help the commander in every way I could, according to his orders, but it is an absolute lie to say that I felt bad about not going to the pole."

There is considerable doubt about the "Roosevelt" taking any part in any naval parade during the Hudson-Fulton celebration, even though she should arrive in New York in time. All that Commander Peary would say concerning this was:

"If the 'Roosevelt' is in the parade, I will be on the bridge."

The "Roosevelt," with favorable weather, should arrive in New York Tuesday night or Wednesday.

Whitney Tells of Peary's Uncalled For Littleness

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Commander Robert E. Peary refused absolutely to allow any of the records or instruments of Frederick A. Cook to be brought aboard the steamer "Roosevelt" and was thus instrumental in causing these records to remain in a cache at Etah, Greenland, according to Harry Whitney, the New Haven sportsman, in a dispatch received in this city by Dr. Cook yesterday. The message which came as a response to one from Dr. Cook is as follows:

"Strathcona, via Indian Harbor and Cape Rey, N. W., Sept. 25.

"Dr. F. A. Cook, Waldorf, New York: Start for home 'Roosevelt.' Nothing arrived for me. Peary would allow nothing belonging to you on board. Said to leave everything in cache at Etah. Met Capt. Sam, North Star. Did not go back after going schooner bound St. Johns take steamer home. Hope you well. See you soon. Explain all. Good shooting.

"HARRY WHITNEY."

Dr. Cook was questioned yesterday as to his view of the situation created by the action ascribed to Commander Peary, but he declined to say anything derogatory of his rival. "It may be that the instruments will arrive this year after all," he said, "and as for the records and observations, their non-arrival here makes no difference whatever, as I have complete duplicates, so that there will be no delay in compiling my story with all its details."

Dr. Cook denied the report that he was to bring suit for slander against Peary. "There is no truth in the report," he said. "I have no intention of bringing suit. Naturally I am taking measures to have everything in order in case of necessity; but I have never even thought of filing a suit and I wish to contradict such reports at once."

If they are still at Etah, Dr. Cook's instruments may not arrive in New York until the spring months of 1910. There is a possibility, however, of their reaching here this year, as another vessel may have touched at Etah after the "Roosevelt" left.

Remained Half An Hour on Edge Boiling Lake of Lava

HONOLULU, Sept. 27.—L. M. Hale, J. Reynolds and Ernest Moses, a photographer, descended Saturday into the pit of the crater of Mount Kilauea, remaining half an hour on the edge of a boiling lake of lava and fire. This is the first time this feat has been accomplished.

Members of the party ventured almost to the rim of the seething lake and attempted to take photographs. The heat was intense and at times the adventurers walked over partly melted areas. After completing their observations they returned safely to the rim of the crater.

Kilauea is one of the largest active volcanoes in the world on the east slope of Mauna Loa, Hawaiian Islands. Its altitude is 4,400 feet and the circumference of its crater is about nine miles, with a depth varying from 700 to 1,100 feet, depending on the level of the molten lava. Violent eruptions occurred in 1797, 1840 and 1866. Since the latter date there have been several outbreaks of less severity.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Adopted by Trenton Lodge, F. and A. M., Upon Death of David P. Miller.

Trenton Lodge No. 189, F. and A. M., Trenton, Fla., July 3rd, 1909.

Whereas, Death has invaded our lodge, it is the mandate of the Great Architect of the Universe that our beloved brother, David P. Miller, should cease from labor, thus severing another link from the fraternal chains that bind us together;

Resolved, That mere words as the vehicle of thought cannot portray the great sorrow that pervades this lodge, in which he has so faithfully and zealously labored. We deeply and sincerely mourn his loss. True to his profession as a Master Mason, within and without the lodge, he was an illustrious example of all that is honorable, charitable and true. His life was full of honor and usefulness. Although we miss him from among us, and feel his absence as we pursue our work, we bow in humble submission to Him who has issued and doeth all things wisely.

Resolved, That we extend to his grief-stricken family our sincere, deep and affectionate sympathy in their bereavement. He who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb, looks with compassion upon the widow and relatives in the hour of their desolation, the Great Architect, will fold the arms of his love and protection around those who put their trust in Him.

Resolved, That our lodge be draped in mourning for thirty days and our brethren requested to wear the insignia of sorrow for an equal time, as a testimonial to the shadow that has fallen upon us.

Resolved, That a page of the record book be set aside in memory of our beloved deceased brother, and a copy of these resolutions so fully expressing our grief be mailed to the family surviving him, and a copy be furnished The Gainesville Sun, and The Times-Democrat, for publication.

They Didn't Have to Change.

During the years in which our pure food laws have been put into effect there has been a great hurrying and scurrying on the part of the food manufacturers to change their methods to make them conform to the law.

The Quaker Oats Company is a conspicuous exception. It was admitted that Quaker Oats was as pure and clean as possible and that it was an ideal food.

It is so cheap that any one can afford it and so nourishing that everyone needs it. The result of last year's experiments at Yale and other points where food values were tested is that Quaker Oats has been adopted by many persons as their food on which they rely for adding vigor and endurance of muscle and brain.

This splendid food is packed in the regular size package and in hermetically sealed tins. The latter especially adapted to hot climates.

It seems almost impossible for them to catch up with the thieves in that place. They have on several occasions entered his firm's store.
